

THE CALGARY CALL

VOLUME XXXIII NO. 13

GLEICHEN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY JUNE 12, 1940

SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR

EXTRACTS FROM MINUTES OF TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

At the last meeting of the town council a court of revision was held with Mayor Menard and Councilors Wright, Thompson and Brown present. The council formed itself into a court of revision to hear the appeals against the assessment.

J. A. May appealed against the assessment of his residence. He contended that at the time he purchased the property the assessment on improvements was $1200 and while interior alterations and new plumbing had been installed he was under the impression that the assessment would not be increased. Some comparison was drawn and the assessment compared favorably. It was contended that the improvements made to the house should not have been assessed at the full 100 per cent valuation, as a reduction was ordered.

The appeal of the Alberta Wheat Pool was then heard. The appeal was not present, but a letter had been received explaining the case. It was disclosed that the annex had been constructed in the fall of 1939 and was of the balloon type, size 64x20x20, 30,000 bushel capacity. This annex had been assessed in accordance with the Alberta Assessment Commission recommendation, and the assessment was in line with the assessment of other elevators of like structure, therefore the assessment was considered fair and equitable. The last appeal was that of Pioneer Grain Co. Ltd. They claimed the assessment on the annex was excessive. It was directed that measurements be taken by the assessor when measuring the annex which had been constructed in the fall of 1939. The measurement taken was 65x24x20, a capacity of 36,000 bushels, where as it was pointed out the correct measurement should be 64x20x20, 30,000 bushel capacity. The assessment was ordered reduced.

There being no further appeals, the court of revision adjourned and a regular council meeting then took place. The council were informed that the alterations to the doors in the hall as recommended by the theatre inspector had been completed. The secretary was instructed to notify the inspector to this effect. A request had been received from the Board of Health for two irrigation connections to water the new park. The irrigation committee were requested to look into this matter.

The health inspector had collected samples of the town water and the results of the test had now been received. The results were satisfactory from a bacteriological and health standpoint.

A satisfactory grant had been received from the Canadian Pacific Railway for car loads of cinders for the streets so the council decided to order several carloads.

A check on the requirements for the renewal of the water system had been made and the cost was now placed in the neighborhood of $10,000. It was decided to make an application for a loan, for the repairs to the system, under the Municipal Improvement Assistance Act 1938.

SILVER BULLETS

Mr. Lloyd George in the Great War was a proponent of silver bullets. He was thinking of the savings of the people, of the money they could give to provide food and guns and shells for the Allied Armies.

Canadians today, in all ranks and walks of life, and all ages, get the opportunity to provide silver bullets. It comes through War Savings Certificates.

Under this War Savings Certificate—described in Government advertisements—a five dollar certificate may be purchased for four dollars; a ten dollar certificate for eight dollars; a twenty five dollar certificate for twenty dollars; a fifty dollar certificate for forty dollars; a one hundred dollar certificate for eighty dollars. A gilt-edge security, and with provisions for redemption before the date of maturity (which matures in seven and half years) are its an admirable investment: simple, safe, profitable, fitting the needs of budgets.

Many Join Battery Will Soon Have Full War Strength

Memories of those hectic days of 1914-18 were again renewed when the pick of our youth left for the training grounds Tuesday morning. These boys having been stirred to action by the atrocities of our ruthless enemies, and the grave danger in which the British Empire is facing at present, portrayed a grim determination to uphold those British traditions which are so dear to all true Britishers—We'll never let the Old Flag Fall.

A few of the old soldiers stood by, and what memories of bully beef and biscuits stirred in their minds we cannot tell, but there is not one of them, were they permitted, that would not have gone willingly with these young comrades in arms, to do over again what they did in the last war "His Bit." It is not hard to fight such a ruthless enemy as the Allies are now confronted with, but it is difficult to have to stay at home, especially if one is physically fit. It is hard to realize until anyone in good physical condition can stand back and watch their young fellow men volunteer for such a noble cause.

Now is the time for all good men to take up one of their country's and follow the example being set by those young men who have stepped into the front ranks. These young men were sent away to take up the challenge which has been thrown out to the youth of Canada, and the youth of Canada are proud of their action, and our whole hearted support will go with them, since we cannot go ourselves.

Recruiting for the 22nd and 78th Field Battery, R.C.A., is progressing favorably, and a fine class of men have already been attested and will undoubtedly appear in uniform in the near future.

Unfortunately a few of our boys who have endeavored to enlist have been rejected, but nevertheless they will answer the call.

It is encouraging to see that some of the local boys who are too young to take active part overseas, are availing themselves of special courses which will prepare them for important appointments later should their services be needed.

Latest reports state the two batteries have now reached full strength. This is a very good considering that a little over a week has elapsed since recruiting started.

RED CROSS NOTES

Several blankets have come in response to the special appeal of last week. Members have speeded up their efforts and 7 hand made quilts will be ready to ship by the end of the week. The society would be very grateful for any donations of old woolen blankets underworn or worn blankets, as these are used for filling the quilts. The Red Cross is an appealing charity stripped of all frills. It is a volunteer organization, seeking to co-ordinate the efforts of war work, such as the manufacture of hospital supplies, the knitting of socks, the packaging of this material, and the shipment of these packages to the depots from which they are distributed, by sea to His Majesty's forces. This work is varied on the home front, while on the war fronts the Red Cross messengers of mercy act to bring the first relief to the actual victims of war.

Because of its automatic appointment to the official position of an army auxiliary by a declaration of war, the Red Cross is the recipient of the official information as to needs, and of official instructions as to packaging, shipment and distribution of relief goods.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLD MEETING

A meeting of the school board was held in the town office one evening last week with Trustees G. H. Parquharson, J. Boyd, W. F. Ferguson, F. N. Warner and J. M. McKee present. Among the numerous items discussed were the applications for principal of the High School. After reviewing the qualifications of the applicants, the question was moved by W. F. Ferguson and seconded by F. N. Warner that Mr. F. Nelson be offered the appointment effective September 1st, 1940.

The question of a vice principal was then discussed and the general opinion was that a woman teacher with university graduation, capable of teaching health and physical education to the girls, should be obtained. It was finally decided to employ a woman teacher with a B.A. degree and of non-German nationality.

The question of general shop instruction in the school was discussed and the secretary was instructed to communicate with the school inspector and secure all the information possible on the matter.

After discussing numerous other subjects and passing a number of accounts for payment the meeting adjourned.

OTTAWA LETTER

BY DR. F. W. GERHART

Last week there was more information released and wider publicity given to Canada's War effort. The speeding up of the Commonwealth Air training plan was described, owing to the overwhelming emergency caused by the enemy breaking through the allied lines of equipment, now in use or on order for the Canadian Air Force, and the air training plan was diverted to the United Kingdom use.

Air craft ordered by Ottawa. In April 1939 was on the ocean and was ordered back without waiting for the British request.

Large orders have been placed with Canadian and U.S.A. firms to replace the aircraft. Destroyers of the Canadian navy now are serving in British waters to protect England and the channel port. This is the first time the Navy of one of the Dominions has participated in the defence of the shores of Great Britain. Canadian troops were several times on the point of departing from England to the continental battlefields. They will serve either in the defence of Great Britain or in the conducted B.E.F. in France.

At this War Session there is not much time for new legislation but the Prime Minister said he would make a special effort to have the application of the Alberta Provincial Bank discussed. The bill as introduced calls for a Board of Directors consisting of the Cabinet Ministers of the province. One of the cabinet shall be the president and another the vice-president. The capital stock shall be $500,000 and it shall be vested in the federal treasury and held for use of the province.

It is recognized in the house that to have a united people, to have a loyal people and to have universal urge for maximum war effort, those in poverty and want must be cared for. We cannot expect whole-hearted national action if many are half-hearted about our Canadian liberty and freedom. One member said last week:

"I suggest that this government make a serious and detailed study of the amount of assistance which is going to be needed by the farmers of the west during the coming year. I suggest that they find the money for the people who are in need of it as they have found the money for the war crisis, because the domestic crisis is of equal importance and perhaps will be more far reaching."

The minister was most sympathetic toward this viewpoint which in these serious days is shared by members on all sides of the house.

THE RUM ISSUE

BY FRED JONES
This Column Given to News of the Gleichen Branch of the Canadian Legion

Stand To!

We were wondering what would be done with the compound and all the huts at Kananaskis when the war is over and finally decided that the prisoners and guards alike would be so badly bushed by that time that they would be locked in together and left there.

Chamberlain would have caught up to Hitler if he had not missed a bus. We believe that the Fuehrer would have been about two buses ahead of that.

Muddling through might have been good enough in ancient times but is not sufficient to meet a total war. The shameful lack of preparedness has cost thousands of men and millions of dollars worth of equipment already. Lay the blame where you think it should rest, but remember that the working men were willing to go to work, as they ever have, while British factories were working half time. Democracy as we have known it is finished for what we have fought now in Britain and France is what might be called a democratic dictatorship. For democracy has been a name only for a longtime. You can't call a country democratic if it is run by a few men on the scene while others sell the warm south on their fine yachts. Let us hope the allies are at least aware.

As for poor old Canada, the land of Horowitz will probably be coming to life after the war is all over, but we could get a chance to join up until recently, because no men were needed. Now things are really going to town with four divisions in the making. One division is now overseas and the first time it is in action all the men in Canada will be needed to make reinforcements for it. In the last war about seven men went through every battalion. So where will the men come from to fill up the battalions going into action. And another thing, it is claimed that 220,000 more men are unemployed in Canada than when the war broke out. How is that for a country out to win the war?

One thing the war has taught us and that is there is no winning plan which will guarantee victory to either side. The trend the war has taken is toward the simplification of Maginot line high and dry while thousands fight and die locked in a death grip. Men in war have always accomplished that, which on paper is impossible. When the saga of Dunkirk is written the most glorious feats of bravery by British and French will be recounted. Hitler should have annihilated this army but superhuman bravery by men who place no value on their own lives again upset the best laid plans of the Nazi war machine.

Jones' Foreign Legion, up here at Kananaskis is the best army of killers in the world, so we are going to the other extreme in the hope that it will strike a happy medium. The tourists spend real money and travel hundreds of miles for the pleasure of being devoured by insects right here where we are being told to stay. We have good huts, fair rations, kind sergeants and plenty of food to keep us warm and don't even have to cut it ourselves. In fact we just

Death On The Highways

The fearful carnage that is the accompaniment of warfare among the belligerent armies on the battlefields of Europe is the subject of shuddering comment daily among the people of this continent. "Isn't it awful!" "Isn't it terrible!" are the queries heard as men and women listen to radio reports of the conflict and read the headlines of the daily newspapers.

Yet the slaughter which is taking thousands of lives on the highways on this side of the Atlantic, and a growing toll at that, is passed over without comment, or with only a shrugging of the shoulders. People have become so used to reports of accidents in which two or three are killed here and three or four lose their lives there, together with a few more injured, that they have not awakened to full realization of the loss of life in the aggregate caused by the automobile.

Despite the safety campaigns inaugurated by police forces, motor clubs and groups of citizens who have sufficient faith in their commitment to appreciate the dire peril which the highway menace has farmed forth on American and Canadian highways, there appears to be no let up in loss of life and limb. On the contrary, recent figures indicate that the menace is becoming greater year by year and month by month. Already, before the holiday season, when the peak of traffic may be expected, indications are that the grim harvester will take a bigger yield on the highways this year than in 1939. It is already a matter of record, for instance, that serious road accidents in Ontario in February of this year totalled 1,276 as compared with 806 in the corresponding month a year ago, a startling increase of approximately 60 per cent.

Unfortunately there is nothing to indicate that the situation will not become progressively worse as the summer wears towards fall, and insofar as the Canadian highway menace is concerned is likely to be accentuated with the influx of a much larger number of American tourists who are expected, because of their high speed abroad, to spend their summer vacations on the roads of this continent.

Roads Or Drivers?

Very properly the Canadian governments, boards of trade and other organizations are doing their utmost to influence the American tourists to turn their wheels in the direction of this country this summer. It is a traffic which should be encouraged for economic reasons as well as in the interests of cementing the growing friendship between the peoples of the two great North American nations. Indeed, freer communication and closer contacts between Canadians and citizens of the United States may go a long way towards amping and encouraging the sympathy which the latter feel towards the Allied countries and the principles for which they are fighting. But, as has already been intimated, there is an element of danger which must be avoided, if anything can be done to minimize the risks of the road in this country.

The difficulty is to know what to do about it. Punishments for carelessness and more restrictive legislation do not appear to be the answer to the problem. Even safety first campaigns conducted through various agencies do not seem to be as effective as they might be, although their objective, that of awakening the motorist to the consciousness of his responsibility is all in all commendable.

One school of thought interested in the problem has suggested that most of the blame for loss of life and limb on the highways should be placed on the highways themselves. These authorities assert, and with some degree of truth that high speed, high powered and efficient automobiles have outstripped the roads on which they are used. In other words, road designing and road construction is not keeping pace with the rapid improvements to the automobile.

On the other hand there are those who contend, likewise with some truth to support their assertions, that the driver is to blame for most of the mishaps on the highways. They say that nearly all accidents are the result of negligence on the part of the driver and quite statistics and results of surveys to show that few accidents are the result of ineffective equipment, such as black brakes, sticking accelerators and the like. They declare that what is needed to make the highways safe for travel is re-birth of the motorist—a new spirit on the road.

Two Main Requirements

It is quite evident that the automobile is efficient and that both the highways and the motorists must share the blame for accidents. If accidents are to be cut down as the volume of traffic continues to grow roads and highways must be designed and built to meet, not the immediate needs of the present day, but those of the years to come and at the same time drivers must be imbued with a greater measure of common sense, courtesy and carelessness than have guided their actions on the roads in the past.

When modern highways, built to match the requirements of the present day automobile and those of the future, are constructed and the motorist has acquired more common sense, then, and then only, will the roads of the country be really safe.

War On Cats

Kansas Has Been Having Trouble With New Element

They have been having a cat-war in Kansas—a war on cats and a war to protect cats. An order had been issued by the State Fish and Game Commissioner to have cats killed, because of their destruction of game fowl. But instantly a vast protest was compelled to rescind his order. Farmers published advertisements in local newspapers warning sportsmen that they were hunting cats on their farms. "No hunting" signs were put up on farms.

The State's game department had offered 200 bounties to the couple who killed the largest number of cats and crows during the summer. There had been no outcry against the proposed open season on crows, but cats are not to be classed with crows, despite the fact that they delight to feed on quail.

Discipline Needed

The Results of Experimental Theories Are Shown

The general idea of progressive education is to grant the pupil an extraordinary amount of freedom with little or no restraint or discipline. It is an educational theory which does not develop into a brain adolescent with a casual view of those moral standards which never vary from generation to generation. They weaken or quit when faced with the slightest of adverse circumstances or temptation because they honestly do not know how else to meet the situation. The market left in this world by those people who knew childhood discipline, strict, and who could discipline themselves when the need arose, provides the practical answer to the experimental theories—Boston Post.

Red Cross Blankets

Need For Woolen Blankets For Refugees Is Most Urgent

Once again the rallying cry of "Help the Red Cross" has rung across Canada. This time it came direct from France to Toronto and the west received it within the hour. The appeal was so urgent for the thousands of sinners waiting and almost naked refugees that it could not possibly be met from mulla and stores. Every housewife in Canada has been asked to do her bit and when the last bale is shipped it is pretty safe betting there will be nothing all the west for the months to feast on this summer. The cry reached the west just as the good housekeepers had all the blankets washed or clean and were about to store them for summer. Merchants had ordered their supplies into moth proof storage during the first week of June.

What happened when the depots opened was that givers were waiting with their hands. Men, single men, were rushing through the first open door of the stores where blankets could be bought. The instructions were very simple, very clear, very explicit. The need is for all wool blankets, double or single, new or not too much worn and clean. The used blankets to be kept together and the new likewise and each blanket marked as to whether it was new or used.

In the country districts where the all could not reach the Red Cross groups or individuals it will be safe to ship any wool blankets that can be spared to any Red Cross headquarters. That what is sent must be wool blankets is made very definite. Jumpy other covering will not be taken at present no doubt will be explained later.

SILVER BULLETS

Savings Certificates are the opportunity they afford for war service. In the Great War we spoke of people "doing their bit". Here, now, all of us are given the chance to do our bit. People of small incomes, artisans, people too old for active war duties, even children—all can strike a blow in this struggle by investing in these securities.

Our government needs money, needs it desperately. Only by money, by what it can raise in taxes, by loans and by these War Savings Certificates, can it help win the war. Therefore, if we believe the things we profess, if we are sincerely anxious to strike a blow for freedom, if we want, in short, to save Canada from the "night of barbarism" of which Mr. Churchill has spoken so solemnly we must—all of us—who can—buy these certificates.

In Britain they are giving of their last farthing to help win this war. In Nazi Germany they are giving everything—are having everything taken from them, including their liberty—to win this war. Are we capable of less? Are we of weaker fibre?

After all a good investment—good interest on and security for our savings—is a small thing to be asked in this crisis. Small, pitifully small in comparison to what we ask of those who go to fight and die for us. At this hour, there is a poem which should have a poignant appeal to us:

What have I given, bold sailor of the sea,
On Earth or Heaven, that your should die for me?
What can I give, oh soldier leal and brave,
Long as I live, to pay the life you gave?
What title or part can I return to thee,
Oh! Stricken heart, that thou should'st break for me?
The Wind of Death for you hath slain life's flowers.
It withereth, God grant, all weeds in ours.

KEEP THE HIGHWAYS HAPPY WAYS IF YOU DRIVE DON'T DRINK IF DRINK DON'T DRIVE

If everyone who drives a car
Could lie a month in bed,
With broken bones and stitched-up
Wounds, or fractures of the head,
And there endure the agonies
That many people do,
They'd never need preach safety.
Any more to me or you.
